SEO Copywriting

I have been hired to create freelance articles for several companies including Rugbypass and RavenForge.

My work is always of a high standard, boosting engagement and drawing greater interaction from my readership through a focus on tone, quality research and SEO optimisation.

I am a competent researcher, using my university training to identify important information and keywords recognition in a potential audience.

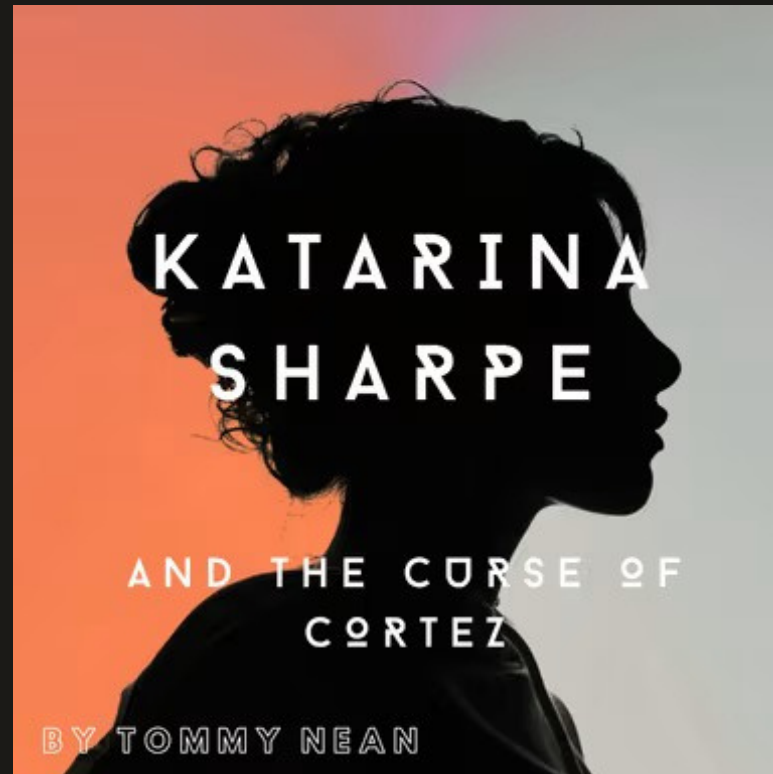

Testimonial:

"Tommy is a pleasure to work with. He delivers on time, every time. He's also great at adapting copy to the brief and actively incorporates feedback. He's a pleasure to collaborate with and I'd recommend him to anyone."

Tom Brook - Content Director - Another Concept

Novels and Ghostwriting

I have several short stories published through the Fictra website and they will soon be releasing my Katarain Sharpe series of novellas.

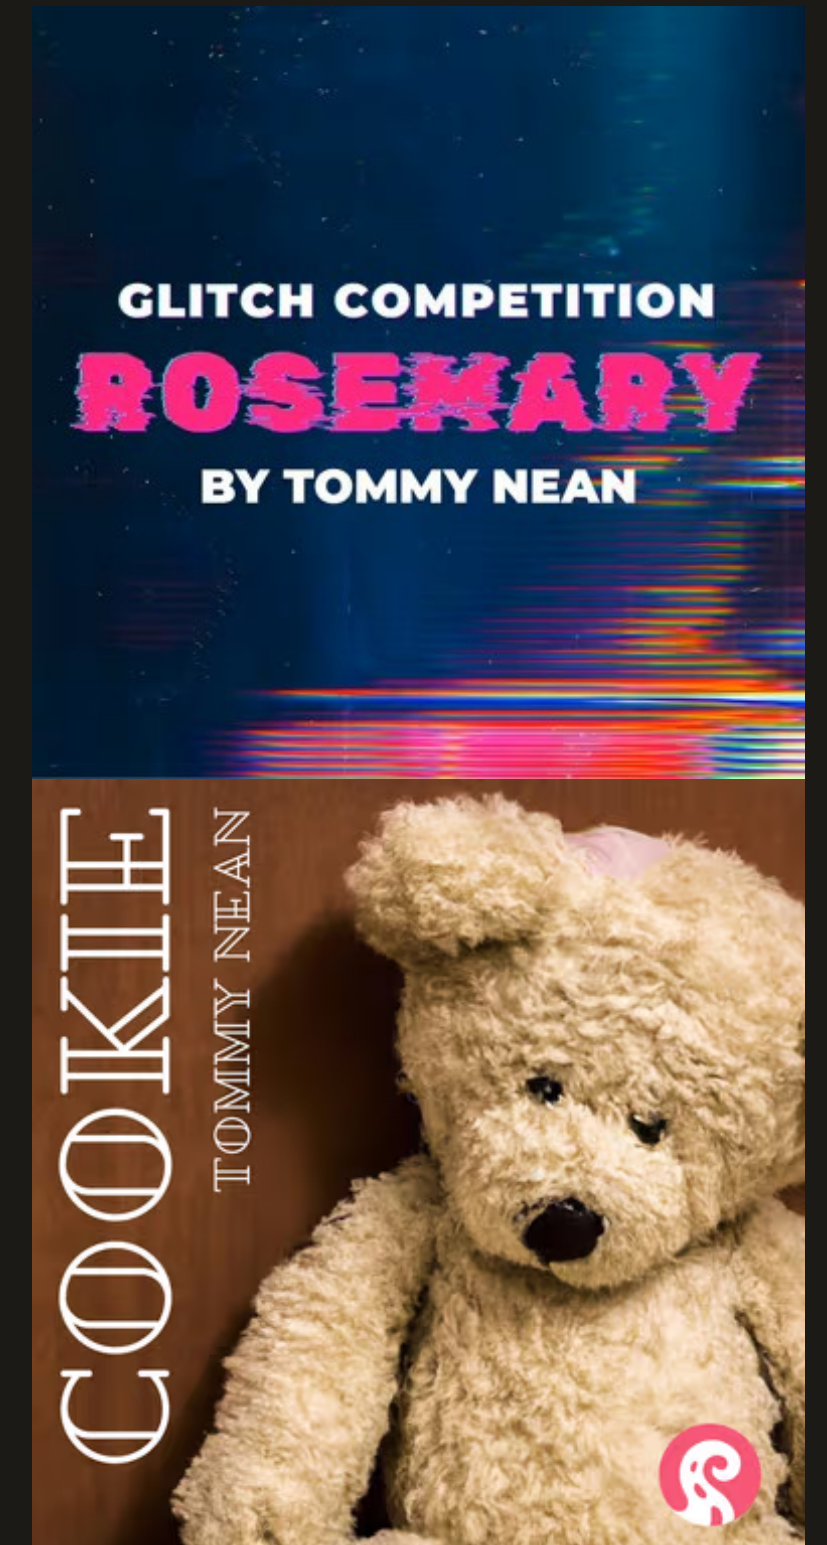

My work on these has been widely popular and well reviewed. I am currently working on new chapters of my Subtle Weapons for a Silent War series, and have another novel on the way.

Testimonial

'Tommy has worked with Fictra on stories including Cookie, The Life Simulator, and our flagship series Katarina and the Curse of Cortez. From the start, he showed a real instinct for atmosphere, tension, and memorable concepts. He's an exciting new writer and we're looking forward to building much more with him in future.'

Matt Watson - Company Director - Fictra

Scripts and Screenplays

I am regularly commissioned to write audioplays and scripts for several production houses and youtube channels including Parallax Moons and the Undone Universe.

I am also releasing my own podcast, The Phil Howard Late Show, which will be available to view soon.

My work has been generally well received. You can view some testimonials below.

Testimonials

‘I highly recommend Tommy Nean as a writer. His work has the incredible quality of both spellbinding an audience and horrifying them at the same time.’

Daniel Coppola - Producer - Horizontal productions

Non-Fiction Writing

I have produced several pieces of high quality, well researched non-fiction writing for both video and print formats. I excel at collaboration, finding the exact tone that my customer requires to connect with their audience, whether as a blog or youtube video, where my work has reached tens of thousands of views.

Testimonial:

‘Tommy Nean is a talented writer. He combines creative ideas with beautiful prose to produce work that has vitality, craft and charm’

Andrew Keaveney - Producer - Art For Thought

Game Design and Games Master

I have been providing professional GM services for more than two years, represented by Rolldark Ltd. the only professional GM agency in the UK. I have worked with a variety of systems, including D&D 5E and 5.5E, Call of Cthulu, Games Workshop RPGs and Paranoia XP. My work is generally well reviewed and I am one of Rolldark's best reviewed GM's.

Testimonials

'Working with Tommy as our Dungeon Master has completely transformed our D&D experience. From the very first session it was obvious how much passion, creativity and preparation he brings to the table.'

Ian Todd - Customer Review

'Tommy's been an incredible DM from day one. He's built a genuinely interesting world with loads of depth, great lore and NPC's that actually feel memorable, rather than forgettable quest dispensers. You can tell how much work and care goes into every session.'

Oli Slater - Customer Review
